A Dispute has lately taken Place in this Capital, between the Students of the University and the Police, which, from the prudent Conduct of the Government, has fortunately subsided without any bad Consequences. It was occasioned by the Arrest of one of the Students on a mistaken Charge; in consequence of which the other Members of the University insisted on the Officer asking Pardon publickly. This not being complied with, the Students assembled in considerable Numbers, and proceeded to some Acts of Violence. The Troops having been drawn out, and the Officer who had executed the Arrest having asked Pardon, the Tumult subsided without any further Consequences.
